

Steven Chen, MD, MBA is a surgical oncologist in San Diego, CA. Dr. Chen received his medical degree and completed general surgery and critical care residencies at the University of Michigan, followed by a surgical oncology fellowship at the John Wayne Cancer Institute. He has previously been the Chief of Breast Surgery at UC Davis Medical Center, and an Associate Professor of Surgery at City of Hope National Medical Center. He serves as the Director of Surgical Oncology at OasisMD. Dr. Chen is a past President of the American Society of Breast Surgeons. Dr. Chen serves on committees for a number of professional societies including the American Medical Association, the Society of Surgical Oncology, and the American College of Surgeons. In addition to his clinical duties, Dr. Chen also serves as Avelas Biosciences' Chief Medical Officer. Avelas is a biotechnology company, focused on intraoperative margin detection.