

BIOSKETCH

Ines Buccimazza is Head Clinical Unit - Breast and Endocrine Surgery and a member of the Multidisciplinary Breast Team at Inkosi Albert Luthuli Central Hospital in Durban. She is also a Specialist in the Department of Surgery at the Nelson R. Mandela School of Medicine of the University of KwaZulu-Natal in Durban, South Africa and a post-graduate lecturer.

Aside from service delivery and teaching, she is a member of several societies and the current President of the Association of Surgeons of South Africa. In addition, she presides over the Durban Breast Cancer Forum and serves on the Executive Committee of the Surgical Research Society of Southern Africa. She is an associate editor of both the World Journal of Surgery and the South African Journal of Surgery.

After office hours, she enjoys dabbling in the culinary arts and listening to opera.